THE SEASON HARDLY HOLDS ITS OWN.

A LITTLE GAYETY PROMISED AT THE END OF AUGUST-PERSONAL NOTES. Newport, R. I., Aug. 11 (Special).—The Newport ason is "booming" just a little. The hotels are not full, the Casino is not making any more money than is necessary to pay expenses and interest charges, the boatmen and tradesmen are grumbling and no one predicts a prosperous season, either socially or finan-cially. The season of 1885 will not be the "best on record" by any means, but, nevertheless, Newport Is holding her own. Business has been very lively at the beach this week and thousands have bathed and sported in the surf.

Matters are quiet at the gambling place in Bath Road with Mayor Powel said should be restrained from doing business this season. A few people visit Watson's, but no one appears to know just what they do besides eating game suppers. Business has picked up considerably at the hotels this week. Two of them have been full, and it is believed that about all the rooms at the Decan House will be occupied next week. Business improved, too, at the Casino. All the dances are The Casino Club is doing well. well attended.

"NERO" MAY GO ACROSS THE WATER.

Several people recently connected with the American Exposition in London have expressed an opinion that Imre-Riralty's grand spectacle, "Nero; or the Fall of Rome," would prove a veritable gold mine to its owners if transferred, after the present season on Staten Island to England's capital, and placed on the ground last season recupied by Buffalo Bill's "Wild West," They say that the England's capital, and placed on the ground last season occupied by Buffalo Bill's "Wild West,". They say that the appt is admirably adapted to spectacular displays, and that, as "Nero" would be the first entertainment of the kind the English ever saw, its magnitude and magnificence would its immediate success. Mr. Kirally seriously e tertains the idea of preducing the spectacle on the other side in order to show what Americans can accomplish in a field entirely new to them. The cost would be enormous, certainly, the running expenses on Staten Island amounting to nearly $20,000 per week, but the entertainment is ling to hearly $25,000 per week, that the risk does not appear specially hazardous. In all probability "Nero" will be taken across the water after it ha closed its season in this vicinity. The receipts amount to $32,000 over the receipt of last year's "Fall of Babylon" for the same number of performances. Every night the grounds are crowded with the most fashionable people from the city and subuchs, even from cities as far distant as Chicago. venture is not only a paying one, but will make fortunes for those immediately interested.

Peter Ryley, of No. 429 West Fifty-second-st., had a narrow escape from death. He was at work at the bettom of the hole and was completely covered with sand and stones. IN THEIR FINE NEW ROAT-HOUSE.

THE HANDSOME ISLAND HOME OF THE NEW-YORK ATHLETIC CLUB.

The members of the New-York Athletic Club have just taken possession of their handsome new boat-houe, at Travers Island. Having sold all the buildings they formerly occupied at One-hundred-and-fiftieth-st. to the Young Men's Christian Association, they purchased thirty acres at Traver's Island and during grounds. The situation is an admirable one; is easy of access, and yet sufficiently isolated to insure privacy. The Island is connected with tilen Island by ferry-boats; and yesterday to a Tribune reporter ap proaching the boat-house from that direction a gala appearance was presented. Hundreds of the clubpers were bathing, boating or sitting on the broad verandas which surround the building.

The boat-house is probably the largest in the country, and is certainly one of the most complete. On the first floor are the boats, which include everything in that line from a single shell to a seven oared barge. The members expect in a short time to have a full complement of sailing vessels; and one man intends to add a small schooner to the collection. second floor are bath-rooms and long rows of lockers, each provided with a combination lock. On this floor also is a large veranda, from which can be obtained a splendid view of all the neighboring islands. tle to the left of the boat-house is the cafe, which was formerly a cottage, and which in its present use is only a temporary arrangement. About four hundred was formerly a contage, and the control of the control of the control of this a large club building with a frontage of seventy five feet will be erected in a short time. The dining-room will occupy the whole of the first floor; and, in the upper floors there will be about fifty rooms for those who desire to live on the island.

This building will cost about $40,000, including the fornishing expenses. There are a number of smaller buildings, and of all them and a small stable in the rear are painted a dark red; and, surrounded by heautiful groves, and lawns on which are a number of tennis courts, they present a beautiful appearance. About ten acres of the property of the club is marsh-land, which it is their intention to fill up and raise to the level of the surrounding grounds. Between the cafe and the site of the proposed new club-building is a fith of a mile cinder track. The governing board of the club at present consists of twenty-one directors, who have the power to appoint all sub-committees.

STILL LOOKING FOR MURDERER PASCOTT.

Chicago, Aug. 11 .- A local paper says: "Last night a detective told a reporter that the police expected to arrest Tascott, the murderer of Amos Snell, within forty-eight hours. Three days ago Insuch, within forty-eight hours. Three days ago the spector Ronfield left town. It was given out that he had gone to Colorado for recreation. A dispatch from Denver yesterday said he had arrived there in company with two friends. The names of the inspector's friends could not be learned at Police Headpariers, but a reporter learned that two officers had disappeared from the city about the time the inspector left. Two weeks ago Bonfield expressed corlidence that he would yet bring Tascutt to the gallows, and before many months. At the same time he stated that Tascott's relatives had been closely watched and that if there was any communication between them and the numberer, the police would surely learn of it. The inspector also said he believed that Tascott was still on the Continent and that he was hiding somewhere in the mining districts or on some remote cattle ranch." said he had strong hopes of laying his hands on him

A HEARTLESS PENSION VETO. Boston, Aug. 11 (Special).—A dispatch to "The ournal" from Nashua, N. THE TRUIN WELL EXPRESSED.

At the Blaine parade on Thursday night some excellent little campaign cards were distributed, which deserve even more notice than they then received. They were prepared by David H. Gildersleeve, the se-st. printer. On one side is shown the emblem of the Republican party in this campaign, the Starspangled Banner, printed in colors, with the names of the Republican candidates. Beneath Harrison's name is this quotation:

His personal record is spotless. Irishmen are reminded that his grandfather helped to whip the Euglish in the war with Great Britain, and the grandson is pronounced a chip of the old block.—Freeman's Journal, Duolin, Ireland, June 25, 1888. And Mr. Morton is thus commended to Irish voters:

thrown down by Spinola? This little unpleasantness began when Kilgore sneered at Spinola, while the latter was delivering a speech in favor of the appropriation for a monun at Fort Greene, Brooklyn, in memory of 11,500 victims who died in the British prison ships in Wallabout Bay during the Revolution. The bill was before the House on July 19, and as a last resort to defeat the bill, Kilgore raised the point of order that a quorur had not voted. The two men parted company with an exchange of opinions. On the following day the bill to appropriate $250,000 to aid in maintaining the State Homes for disabled Union veterans was before the House, and white Spinola was speaking, Kilgore moved to reduce the appropriation to $100,000, in the course of his remarks took occasion to make some uncomplimentary allusions to the Union veterans, including General Spinola. Kilgore declared that "the States should take care of their own paupers," and uttered even more insulting remarks.

Stinola arose in fiery indignation and said: "No man shall stand on the floor of this House and brand the Northern soldier as a nauper, without my resenting it. I hard the assertion back into the dirty throat from which it emanated." The two men played bat tledore and shuttlecock with the English language, now and then peppering it with forcible and inelegant adjectives, until Kilgore said: "General Spinola is too old a man for me to characterize in the manner he serves, but if the gentleman has a henchman to do his bidding and use such language to me, I will deounce him as a liar upon the floor of this House."

Things were quieted down through appeals from Chairman Townshend, but Mr. Day wrote a postalthat institution. He came from Washington and was said: "I meant what I wrote to Spinola, and I would terms.7 This is the reply from Spinola;

THE MAYOR'S CHAIR STILL FACANT.

CORPORATION COUNSEL BEERMAN MAKES HIGHT OF THE SITUATION-

The Mayer's chair continued empty yesterday. Mr. Hewlit remains at Sharon Springs, in blissful ignorance probably that his past is deserted, with no-body to listen to the complaints of citizens who have grievances resulting from doing business with graspeg pawnbrokers, or to the appeals of unfortunate immigrants who have been robbed by some rascally boarding-house keeper. What will cause the Mayor the deepest regrei, however, will be that there was the deepest regret, however, win be that there was no one at hand to marry such of the nobility or of the Hallan colony as might wish to come where the job would not cost anything. Secretary Berry said that he did not believe Mr. Hewlit would return to the city before the expiration of the two weeks' varation, even if both President Forster and Vice President Dowling remained away. It was said that both the latter would be back to-morrow.

Corporation Counsel Beckman said that his official attention had not, as yet, been called to the fact that | Carl V. Lachmund, a young composer from Min-New-York was without a Mayor. He was disposed to regard it as a matter of no consequence. "I cannot conceive of any condition which could arise to place the city in danger from within or from without. If the situation should become in any degree threatening, the gentlemen who can by law perform the functions of Mayor are so near the city that a very few hours would enable us to obtain their presence In these days of rapid transportation and immediate communication public affairs are very differently conducted than in old times. The temporary absence of an official is of little importance when he can send his directions by telegraph or be himself on the ground in a few hours. The Mayor and all the members of the City Government are usually absent at night from the city in the summer time, but nobody has any apprehensions on that account. I do not think that the municipality is likely to suffer In it should be without a Mayor until Mr. Hewitt re-turns from his vacation. The machinery of the City Government is wound up and poes along just as well as if the Executive were present with his hand on the tiller. If any city officer deserves a rest I think it is Mr. Hewitt."

Mink it is Mr. Hewitt."

Mr. Heehman was not prepared to say whether the fault of the city's being derived of a head was to be placed at the door of Mr. Forster or of Mr. Dowling. He was certain that the blame could not be put upon Mr. Hewitt.

THE AQUEDUCT COMMITTEE DID NOT MEET. A stenegrapher and two or three reporters waited in cain for the Senate Committee on the Aqueduct yesterday. Probably the committee couldn't find ex-Mayor Grace, or the objections of the infinity to a delay were overruled. At any rate, the senators did not sit, and are not likely to resume their investigation before the 20th of this month, when Governor Hill, Mayor Hewitt and ex-Mayor Grace will be asked to tell what they know.

A PICKPOCKET MADE TO GIVE UP HIS BOOTY. As James G. Cooper was walking down Park Row, between Beckman and Ann sta, about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, he observed a group of ladies and children. In the centre of the group was a tail, well-dressed man, who kept glancing around suspiciously, and at once attracted s attention. Mr. Cooper watched him for some moments. NO HLL WILL AGAINST THE CLYDE LINE. Referring to the dispatches which have been published that the Board of Health in Charleston, S. Our business Intere-Charleston are so large that we shall certainly take the most stringent precautions to keep any danger out of that port. CARPET WEAVERS TO RESUME WORK.

The National Progressive Union of Carpet Weavers met yesterday morning at Wendell's Hall, in Forty-There were present over 2,000 men and women employed in the carpet industry. John Morrison presided, and it was decided that at the opening of E. S. Higgins & Co.'s carpet works to-morrow 1,000 weeks of the run. These changes have been styled by the management "editions." The "third edition" 1,600 formerly employed. The rest of the regular force, girls and 400 men would return to work out of the Themrson and 1,800 formerly employed. The rest of the regular force, of Long Branch. many of whom have other situations, will return as trade increases and take their old places. A report was read of the state of the carpet industry throughout the ocuntry, which showed that trade was dull. An old carpet weaver said that in case the tarid was lowered on carpets, the trade would be ruined in this country, or the workingmen in that at Terrace Garden. The programme is, Monday, great industry would have to accept wages on a par "Anget"; Tuesday and Wednesday, "Fatiniza"; with those paid to the paupers of Europe, as the man-

E. S. Higgins & Co.'s carpet works shut June 22, and for a time, among their employes, it was supposed to be for the purpose of "locking them out," after the manner of the boss brewers, but it was only on account of repairs and dulness in trade. The works begin running to-morrow.

He said further: "We shall object to the Ablermen's resolution, because it is impossible for us to comply with it."

A BUSY LINE OF STEAMSOATS.

The regularity with which the Iron steamhoats bly be-tween New-York and Coney Island or Long Branch keeps the well-known fleet always busy; and the steady travel on week days, when there are fourteen trips to the Island and two to Long Branch, shows the large properties of people who seek the scenery and recreation of the all-water trip, the landing directly at the ocean piers, and the oldance of change from boat to cars in reaching destina tion. As usual, to-day, there there are extra trips, the steamers leaving West Twenty-third-st. and Pier, New, No. scamers leaving West Twenty-thrid-st. and Fler, New, No. 1, N. R., on the forty-five-minute time-table from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. This certainly should accommodate the increased travel on Sunday.

For the Long Branch route the regular best, the Taurus, makes two trips every day, and on Sunday an extra steamer is put on, thus giving the public four trips direct to the ocean pier, and afternoon boats from the Branch as late as 5:15 and 6:15 p. m. The Long Branch excursion affords a chance for a good long sail, part of it out beyond Sandy Hook, and in full view of the New-Jersey coast, with Seabright, Monmouth Beach, and a landing at the busiest part of the Branch itself,
